Watch the sermon. As you watch, take notes on anything that stands out to you. Pay careful attention to the context of the biblical text, insights and principles highlighted, and any supporting scripture mentioned.

* KEY TAKEAWAYS*

Because life on this earth is but a preparation for eternity, how should this reality change the way we live today?

- Anchor your life in God
- Align with God's ways
- Advance God's purpose

🗣️ Talk It Through

1. Imagine finding out that you have only a year left to live. What are some things you would stop doing, start doing, or give more time to? Why do you think knowing that your time is limited changes the way you look at life?
2. In Psalm 90:1–17, Moses describes life as short and fragile, especially when compared to God's eternality. But rather than dwelling on how short life is, he asks God to teach him to number his days so that he may gain a heart of wisdom. What does this reveal about how Moses understood life and what it means to live wisely before God? What do you think it means to "number our days"? How is this different from simply being conscious that life is short or trying to make every moment count?
3. The sermon makes a distinction between being busy and being fruitful. It's possible to be productive, accomplish goals, and even do good things without necessarily advancing God's purposes. Looking at your current priorities and activities, where do you see this happening in your life? Are there things taking up much of your time that have little eternal significance?
4. Moses prayed that God would establish the work of their hands and that His faithfulness would be seen by the next generation. When you think about the people around you, what kind of spiritual influence or legacy would you want to leave behind? What can you start doing now to make that a reality?
